BANKING VETERAN AND COMMUNITY LEADER TINA WEBER JOINS BANTERRA AS SENIOR PRIVATE BANKER FOR SOUTHEAST MISSOURI REGION

Cape Girardeau, Missouri – Banterra Bank, the region’s largest locally-owned bank with locations in six states, has announced that banking veteran and community leader Tina Weber has joined Banterra as Senior Private Banker for Southeast Missouri. Weber, with 35 years of banking experience in this market, will focus on Banterra’s new specialty product, Private Banking.

“Our Cape Girardeau team has done an incredible job, under Phil Moore’s leadership, in growing this market, serving our customers and supporting our community,” said Jeff May, President and CEO of Banterra. “Having Tina join the team, with her banking background and community involvement, is another win for our Banterra team and our Southeast Missouri customers.”

“Tina and I have worked together before, and her work ethic, ability to understand customer needs and serve them well, is exceptional,” said Phil Moore, Market Executive for Banterra’s Southeast Missouri region. “She has truly worked almost all areas of banking, being promoted from the ground up, so this experience will be perfect for the service needs of our Private Banking customers.”

Weber was most recently employed with The Bank of Missouri for almost 25 years. She began as a Loan Administrator and worked her way up to roles in both the deposit and lending side of the banking business. For lending, she has served as both a Consumer Lender and as Vice President, Sr. Mortgage Lender. She has also served as Vice President, Business Development Officer which gave her the opportunity to develop and implement banking strategies for new business and become even more involved in her community. Weber began her banking career at Cape County Bank and gained additional experience at Capital Bank and Union Planters before joining The Bank of Missouri in May 1998.

“My entire career has been in banking, and as a lifelong resident of Jackson, it has allowed me to truly support the community that I love through serving the financial needs of customers and being involved in civic organizations,” said Weber. “I have watched the growth of Banterra not only in this market, but throughout their footprint and I am thrilled to now be a part of their team.”

Weber’s community involvement has included serving as a board member for Uptown Jackson Revitalization Organization (2022 to present), SEMO Redhawk Booster Board (2016-2022), City of Jackson Park Board (1999-2019) and City of Jackson Planning and Zoning (2019-Present). She has served leadership roles for American Business Women Association (President, 2003-2009), American Cancer Society (ACS) Breast Cancer Luncheon (Chair, 2008-2009) and Gala (Co-Chair, 2004-2005) and SEMO NASV (President and board member, 2006 to present). She has been an active member of Jackson Area Chamber of Commerce since 1998, served on Jackson Tourism Committee (2004-2006) and Jackson Jaycees (1998-2007).

Weber attended Southeast Missouri State University and has also taken specialized training courses to further her education.
